

Adult Soccer Skill Definitions (Individual Registrations)

Recreational (C)

- You're here to have fun, meet people, and enjoy playing soccer!
 - You know the basic rules but may not know all the finer details.
 - Your passing, shooting, and control are developing and can be inconsistent.
 - You're still getting comfortable with spacing, positioning, and teamwork.
 - Perfect for newer or casual players.

Intermediate (B)

- You've played before and are comfortable with the basics — passing, dribbling, and shooting.
 - You understand positioning and can generally stay in formation.
 - You make smart plays and communicate well with teammates.
 - You like a little competition but still play for fun and good sportsmanship.
 - Great for players with some prior league or pickup experience.

Competitive (A)

- You have strong technical skills and good control under pressure.
 - You understand tactics, formations, and team structure in an 8v8 setting.
 - You can anticipate plays and adjust quickly on both offense and defense.
 - You're confident in your abilities and enjoy a faster-paced, competitive game.
 - Best for experienced players who have played at higher levels or consistently in leagues.
